 - All pending visits were initiated by different agents.

- Implications and Recommendations:
- It is essential to prioritize the completion of pending visits, especially those marked as customer complaints, to maintain customer satisfaction. This might involve providing additional training or resources to the agents responsible for these visits.
 - Establishing a process to accurately record the duration of each visit could help in calculating average durations and identifying potential efficiency improvements.

- Anomalies and Outliers:
- There seems to be no significant anomaly or outlier in the provided data. However, it would be beneficial to investigate why all visits were conducted on the same day.
